Training for the voluntary
& community sector

“With 20 years of experience as a charity leader, the ILM level 7 course helped me review my practice and learn new skills for the future.”

We develop people to maximise their potential and help their organisations thrive. We provide impactful, practical and expert-led learning opportunities for staff, board members, and volunteers across the voluntary and community sector.

Training Calendar

Our training calendar offers a wide range of online and in-person learning designed to build skills and knowledge, while making valuable connections with others in the sector.

Topics include:

- Governance
- Fundraising
- Leadership
- Management
- Coaching & Mentoring
- Human Resources
- Communications
- Impact Measurement
- Digital
- Community Development

We also offer a free Lunchtime Leadership Series with short sessions on current leadership themes.

Training sessions range from 2 to 50 hours to suit your schedule.

Accredited Training

We offer ILM and OCN accredited courses that support organisations to develop their teams through professionally recognised qualifications.

Courses are available from Levels 2 to 7, delivered as awards, certificates, or diplomas in:

- Leadership and Management
- Coaching and Mentoring
- Management of Volunteers
- Community Development
- Training and Education

Our courses build skills and confidence to make a real difference in organisations and communities.

Bespoke Training

We design and deliver tailored training to meet the specific needs of your organisation, helping everyone from staff to board members and volunteers develop the skills and knowledge to succeed in their roles.

Choose when and where your training happens, and we'll work around you and your team.

“The training was very informative and will help me be more confident in my role and its requirements.”
